

Adult-Free Adventures by Polly Roberts (from a tale told by Peter)

For Peter, there was no better place than his uncle's farm near Bangor. There, surrounded by bulls, cattle, hens, goats and sheep, Peter was allowed to drive the Ferguson tractor.

It was also there that one day him and his sister shared quite the adventure. They shared a lot of things – birthdays for one! – but on this day it was a loose bull chasing them round and round the farmyard. They ducked inside the cowshed to hide, and watched as the great bull destroyed the running board of their father's precious Morris Eight car.

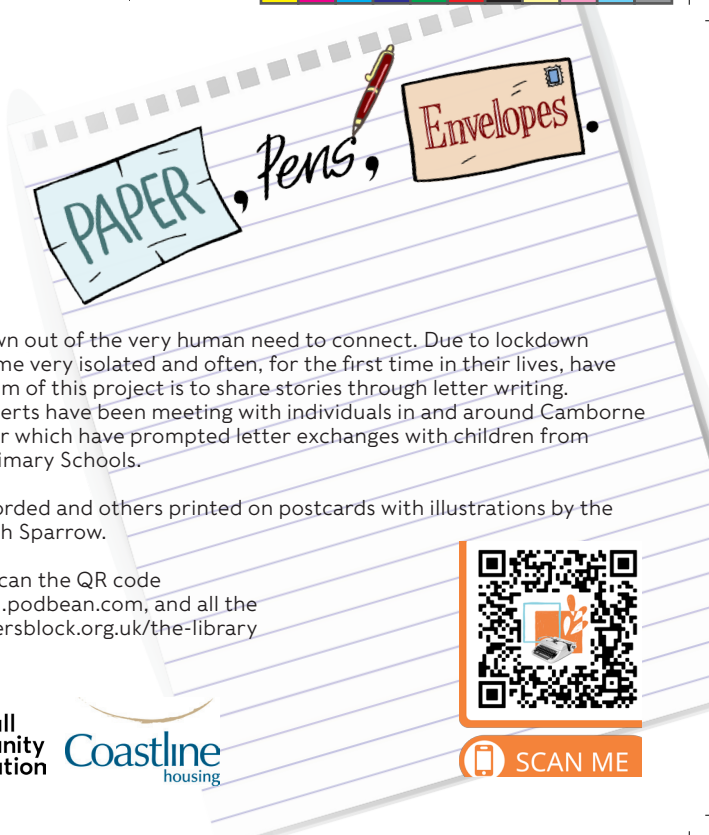

Where were the adults do you say? They were off delivering vegetables, and returned hours later to find a rogue bull in the yard, and the children huddled, close to sleep among the hay bales.

THE
BLOCK

Paper Pen Envelopes or PPE has grown out of the very human need to connect. Due to lockdown restrictions, many people have become very isolated and often, for the first time in their lives, have experienced loneliness. The simple aim of this project is to share stories through letter writing. Writers Sarah Connors and Polly Roberts have been meeting with individuals in and around Camborne and Redruth, sharing tales and banter which have prompted letter exchanges with children from Trewirgie, Penponds and St John's Primary Schools.

Some of these stories have been recorded and others printed on postcards with illustrations by the children supported by illustrator Keith Sparrow.
